Club Federation To Help Beautify Kingston Streets

Coming Card Party to Provide Funds With Which to Make a Start—Sidney K. Clapp Points Way to Women in Which They Can Help City.

The March open meeting of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the Chapel of the First Reformed Church on Saturday afternoon, the Lowell Club entertaining. The president, Mrs. Edgar N. Palen, presided over a very interesting meeting in which music and a talk by Sidney K. Clapp made up the special program.

The treasurer, Miss Edith Holmes, reported for the quarter just ended, $111.12 in the general Federation fund; $29.50 in the public health fund making a total of $143.62 to the credit of the Federation with a standing balance of $49.73 in the lecture fund. It was stated that there were 64 individual members, 12 of whom had not yet paid their dues. The report was accepted with thanks.

A message was received from Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the child welfare committee, stating that there had been a serious need of some money with which to help a needy case, but instead of having to ask for aid from the Federation a check had been received from a friend that would take care of the matter.

Miss Holmes reported for Miss Healy, chairman of the individual membership committee, the names of two new members who were received into the Federation—Mrs. C. B. Dickinson and Mrs. W. B. Terwilliger.

Federation Card Party.

Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, who is chairman of the program committee, told the women present of the progress being made toward the coming card party which will be given on April 6 to raise money for some specific civic work, which will be spoken of later in this report. Mrs. Terwilliger stated that the party would be held at the Stuyvesant Hotel, with the games being played in the large dining room, and if need be in the upstairs reception room also. Not only will bridge be played, but any other games desired, including "anagrams" and "dominoes." There will be prizes, and refreshments will be served by the hotel staff of waitresses. Moreover there will be four dressing rooms at the disposal of the guests and a maid in charge. The games will begin at 2:30 o'clock and five games of bridge will be played. While the response to date to the card party invitation through the club presidents and the press has been most gratifying, still there are many members of the Federation not yet heard from, and Mrs. Terwilliger suggested that perhaps these members if not able to attend the party, might like to contribute the price of one player, or more, thus helping out materially with the necessary expenses. Any such contributions may be sent to Mrs. Terwilliger who will also be glad to give any further information relative to the same. Her telephone number is 3469. Miss Lucy Healy will have charge of the individual members desiring to join in the sport. But one does not have to be a member of the Federation to have a table or tables at the party. Any woman notifying Mrs. Terwilliger and ascertaining just what she must do, will be cordially welcomed with the guests of the afternoon.

Help Enforce Prohibition.

Mrs. Reed, chairman of the good government committee, after calling attention to the fact that in Saugerties a woman had been appointed to the town board, reminded the women of how they had all worked loyally with Herbert Hoover, food administrator, during the World War, and with marked success. Now as President of the United States, who can give to this country good government only as the people of the land obey its laws either voluntarily or by enforcement, Mr. Hoover should again have the complete support of the women of the land who did so much to help elect him to his high office. Therefore in the name of good government, Mrs. Reed asked all women of the Federation to do all in their power to help in all law enforcement but especially the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The only club reports given had to do with study subjects for next year which have already appeared in The Freeman.

At this point Mrs. Palen adjourned the business meeting and turned the meeting over to Mrs. Conklin, acting President of the Lowell Club.

After welcoming those present, Mrs. Conklin presented as the first number on the program, a musical trio, composed of Miss Obernaus, violinist; Miss Quimby, 'cellist, and Miss Anderson, pianist. Their playing of "Papillon" by Andreef, was such a delightful surprise that they were enthusiastically encored and responded with a second pleasing number.

Mr. Clapp Talks on Trees.

Mrs. Conklin then introduced Sidney K. Clapp, assistant engineer of the New York board of water supply, who had had charge of the reforesting and making beautiful the land of the watershed from Gilboa to New York city. Mrs. Conklin said he would speak on "The Trees of Our Locality," those trees which in their very luxuriance had become our friends.

With the exception of a short account of the early and later tree planting about the reservoir, etc., which Mr. Clapp had been asked to

Southern Flood Waters Receding

Known Deaths Number Twenty—Additional Fatalities Feared—Efforts Concentrated to Hold Down Disease in Refugee Camps.

Atlanta, Ga., March 18 (AP).—Known deaths from floods that have swept portions of Alabama, Georgia and Florida reached 20 today and fears were expressed that additional fatalities would be disclosed by receding waters.

The deluge that submerged towns in southeastern Alabama, hardest hit of all the flooded areas, was receding today, and the waters were moving down on northwestern Florida.

Sixteen of the known deaths were in Alabama, three were dead in Georgia and one in Florida. Elba had the greatest toll with ten deaths listed. Two were dead in Geneva, two at Flomaton and two at Pollard. All three of those drowned in Georgia were swept from a highway bridge. The Florida casualty was an aged man who died of exposure.

Meanwhile, an army of relief workers, made up of the Red Cross, Alabama National Guardsmen, and many private citizens, concentrated their efforts on holding down disease in the refugee camps established when residents of Elba, Geneva and other Alabama communities fled from their homes.

Sixteen cases of pneumonia were reported at the Elba refugee camp. Measles and smallpox were noted and physicians were carrying on a relentless campaign of vaccination against smallpox.

Food Situation Acute.

The food situation also was acute. Army airmen from Maxwell Field at Montgomery have dropped tons of food, clothing and other supplies to thousands of marooned persons still awaiting rescue.

Reports of looting at Elba and Geneva resulted in establishment of military rule by Colonel W. E. Persons of the Alabama National Guard. The governor has been asked for permission to force the evacuation of residents who refuse to leave the flooded towns.

Conditions in northwest Florida were critical today, with Caryville and Milligan bearing the brunt of the waters. Damage at Caryville alone was estimated at more than $500,000. Most of the 1,200 residents were safe in refugee camps. Citizens of Milligan moved to high ground before the waters entered their village.

Entire Village Covered.

The floods in Georgia centered at Newton, which had been deserted by its 400 residents for the second time in two weeks. Water covered the entire village. Montezuma, situated near Newton on the Flint river, saw its business section inundated by a river stage of more than 27 feet.

Main highways through Georgia were blocked by the flood waters. The Dixie highway, main road from the north to Florida, was impassable near Albany, which itself was isolated.

The Mississippi river at Memphis today continued its steady rise, apparently headed for a stage of 40 feet here, or five feet above flood level. No alarm is felt, however.

Southern Floods Revealed Stills

Macon, Ga., March 18 (AP).—Boilers and barrels, riding the receding waters of South Georgia floods, today told the story of a huge prohibition cleanup in which neither federal nor state officers participated.

Literally hundreds of riverside stills, which because of their inaccessibility had been comparatively safe from internal revenue men, were swept away by the high waters.

"Three times as many federal officers as there are on duty here could not have done the work so well," one officer said.

Agents Arrest Two Kingston Men

State Troopers on Saturday morning about 3 o'clock halted a couple of trucks at Nanuet, Rockland county, and officers from the Kingston office of the prohibition department placed under arrest Tracy S. Bundry and Alvin Auchmoody, both of Kingston, on charges of transporting alleged hard cider in violation of the prohibition law. On the two trucks seized were 26 fifty gallon barrels of cider which the agents charged was past the sweet cider stage.

Bundy and Auchmoody were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Crist of Middletown and held in $500 for a hearing on March 20.

Airplane Flight to Sick Daughter.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 18 (AP).—Mrs. H. L. Underhill of Binghamton, N. Y., who is making an airplane flight from New York to Tampa, where here daughter is ill, prepared to resume her journey from here today. She landed last night.

P. O. S. of A. Card Party.

A card party will be held by Camp No. 30, P. O. S. of A., on Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock in Mechanics' Hall. The public is invited. The meeting of the organization will be held at 7:30 o'clock that evening.

Calles Notifies Government He Is Moving to Attack

Experts To Occupy Torreon by Tuesday Night — Airplanes Report Rebels Are Evacuating City—Federal Air Raids Leave Four Dead and Frighten Civilian Population.

Mexico City, March 18 (AP).—General Plutarco Elias Calles, Federal Gerneralissimo, notified President Portes Gil today that he was moving to attack Torreon and expected to occupy the city by tomorrow night.

The general's message said the rebels now must fight or surrender, since a small force operating north of Torreon yesterday succeeded in burning bridges and tearing up ten miles of rails near Escalson.

His army—estimated here to aggregate 30,000 men— would be divided into four columns for the attack, General Calles said. He added that airplanes flying over Torreon had seen further evidences of evacuation of the city.

These troop movements, however, now are taken to mean withdrawal from the city proper to Gomez Palacio, three miles from Torreon, where the railroad shops and a soap factory are located. It provides even a better natural defense than Torreon.

Rebels Not Dislodged.

Heavy fighting east of Torreon has failed to dislodge rebel forces under General Jose Gonzalo Escobar who are holding that city.

Far from following the tactics which have prevailed this far in the rebellion against the Portes Gil government the rebels attacked and provoked attack themselves.

They have not, government reports indicated, retreated from Torreon toward Chihuahua, and in fact may be more strongly entrenched in the city and its suburbs than ever.

Should the situation change and the rebels seek to withdraw to Chihuahua damage done in two places to the rail line between the two cities probably would delay them.

This damage was done by General Carlos Terrazos with a band of twenty men, and the aviator, Lieutenant Colonel Roberto Fierro, who alighted adjacent to a bridge near Peronal, north of Torreon and burned it. Terrazos reported a minor encounter at Asunzola with rebels, who retreated north to Escalon, between Jimenez and Torreon, while he burned bridges and pulled up some rails over a distance of about ten miles.

Government reports of fighting were vague and in conflict with previous optimistic bulletins to the effect that the rebel retreat from Torreon had already begun. They were in conflict, too, with news dispatches received here relating rebel claims of a victory east of their stronghold.

Rebels Fear More Air Raids.

Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico, March 18 (AP).—Victorious in their first skirmish with Federal troops advancing on the city, but fearing other air raids, which already have taken their toll, Revolutionary forces prepared today to defend the city on all sides.

Troops which rebels claimed routed two Federal columns yesterday at San Pedro, less than fifty miles east of here, were being massed on two railroad lines to stop the government forces. One line was from Canitas on the south and the other from Durango on the southwest.

The San Pedro battle followed week-end air raids on Torreon by a government squadron that resulted in wounds and death to several persons. One aviator was brought down by Rebel guns.

Two Federal planes appeared over the city Saturday and Sunday, leaving in their wake a frightened civilian population, four known dead and an unknown number of wounded. In Saturday's bombing, two persons, one of them a woman, were injurd fatally. In the second raid, a nine-year-old boy was killed and an unidentified man wounded.

UPTOWN POST OFFICE TO MOVE TEMPORARILY

Tuesday beginning at about 9:30 a. m., the Kingston Station post office will move to the store formerly occupied by Charles A. Warren in the same building, 260 Fair street. The new location will be temporary or until the repairs to the post office room are completed. New flooring, new floor beams and other reconstruction work made necessary by the recent fire have been completed in the Warren store and in about three weeks the Kingston Station post office will be back in its old quarters. Superintendent William Newkirk of the office said that the public probably will be discommoded to a slight extent during the moving process, about one hour.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ebelheiser, 71 Hoffman street, a daughter, Tillie, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ino Spindler, Rosendale, a son, Robert Frederick, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gardecki, R. F. D. No. 4, a daughter, Marie, at Benedictine Hospital.

Actor Lost a Tire.

Harold Lehmbeck of New York city, one of the vaudeville actors playing at the Broadway Theatre on Saturday, reported to the police that evening that while his car was parked near the theatre some one had stolen the spare tire.

Confer on New York Patronage

President Hoover to Make Effort to Bring About Harmony Among Republicans in Federal Appointments.

Washington, March 18 (AP).—An effort to bring about harmony among New York state Republican leaders in the matter of Federal appointments in that state is to be made this week by President Hoover.

Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman; H. Edmund Machold, state chairman, and William H. Hill, who headed the Independent Hoover-for-President organization, and Representatives Snell and Parker of New York have been invited to have dinner with the chief executive tomorrow evening.

The first three of this group constitute a patronage committee set up by Hoover last January while the two members of the House of Representatives were named by the Republicans of the New York congressional delegation to represent them in patronage matters.

Snell is now in northern New York, where he conferred recently with Machold and it may be that he will be unable to come to Washington tomorrow. In that event, he and Parker will be consulted by the chief executive later.

So far as has been disclosed, Hill, Machold and Hilles have not yet made any recommendations to the President in the matter of filling a number of Federal offices in New York state which are now vacant. When they were appointed they were directed by Hoover to get together on their candidates and make recommendations to him.

Unwilling to follow the leadership of this committee, the Republican members of the House soon afterwards appointed Snell and Parker to represent them in conferences with the President regarding New York state appointments.

WOMEN LOADED PISTOLS AS MEN FOUGHT POLICE

Spartanburg, S. C., March 18 (AP).—A pistol battle on the main street of Inman in which two women loaded pistols for use of the male members of their family, resulted in the wounding of four, one probably fatally.

Three rural policemen attempted yesterday afternoon to question Harry McLean about a "mysterious religious cult" he and his family conducted and about which neighbors complained. McLean opened fire on the officers. He was joined by his brother, Arnold. Miriam McLean, a sister-in-law, and Helen Wilson, a cousin, stood by and loaded pistols for the two men until Harry McLean fell, probably fatally wounded.

The three police received wounds. The two women and Arnold McLean are in jail.

SEVERAL CASES IN POLICE COURT BEFORE SHUFELDT

Harold Brink of Green street, arrested Sunday morning by Officer Bowser who charged him with disorderly conduct on East Strand, was fined $5 in police court today by Judge Shufeldt.

The hearing in the case of Francis Brady and John Benkert, two youths arrested last week by Nightwatchman Peter Hoey at the Municipal Building, who charged the youths with hurling empty milk bottles at the U. & D. Railroad tracks on Hasbrouck avenue, was adjourned to March 26, at the request of Attorney Francis T. Murray, who appeared for the youths.

Joseph Ryan, who said his home was in Boston, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on his plea of guilty to public intoxication. He had been released from jail Thursday and was arrested again on Saturday.

STRANGE BURGLARY AT WINTER'S STORE

A strange and really remarkable burglary occurred at the E. Winter's Store on Wall street on Saturday evening about eight o'clock. Small and fancy typewriters like those displayed in their window for "Dress-up Night," were also shown on one of the counters. The full force of sales people and the Winter brothers themselves were busy in the store which had many customers. Suddenly it was discovered that two of the typewriters had been stolen under the very eyes of the sales force. The police department was immediately notified of the amazingly daring theft.

CARBON MONOXIDE FUMES CAUSE DEATH

Schenectady, N. Y., March 18 (AP).—William H. Deitbarn, 40, was found dead in his garage today. His body was behind the wheel of a closed car and indications were that the engine had been running but had stopped of its own accord. The gas tank was empty. The coroner said death was due to carbon monoxide fumes.

Deitbarn was employed by the General Electric Company. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. James Lewis, Elyria, Ohio, and Mrs. Henry Schneider, Schenectady.

Grass Fire Saturday.

The fire department was called out Saturday for a grass fire in Hasbrouck Park.

Sightseeing Plane Crashes on Jersey Meadows, 14 Dead

Second Worst Accident in History of Aviation—Pilot Attempts Landing After Motors Had Stopped But Crashes Into Freight Car—Passengers Impaled on Torn Metal.

Newark, N. J., March 18 (AP).—Belmont Parsons, the fourteenth passenger in the Ford tri-motored plane which crashed late yesterday killing thirteen instantly, died in St. James Hospital today.

Lou Foote, the pilot, who lies in the hospital in a critical condition, is now the only survivor.

A huge Ford all-metal tri-motored monoplane operated by the Colonial Airways crashed into a freight car loaded with sand while attempting a forced landing after its motors had stopped a mile from the Newark airport.

Lou Foote, the pilot, and Belmont Parsons, a friend riding in the cockpit besides him, were hurled 50 feet from the plane by the impact. Those in the cabin were flung into a heap in the forward end of the fuselage. Many were impaled on pieces of torn metal.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to be in trouble from the time it took off from the airport with its load of passengers for a trip over New York city.

Lost Altitude Too Rapidly.

Foote apparently was attempting to bring the craft down on a clear space between two railroad lines but the plane, buffeted by a high, gusty wind, lost altitude too rapidly to clear the string of cars on a siding of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

An engaged couple and two brothers were among the victims.

The crash has only been exceeded in the number of victims by one other accident in the history of heavier-than-air operation. That was the wreck of the Dornier-Wal plane at Rio Janeiro last December, in which 14 persons were killed while on their way to welcome Santos Dumont, the famous aviator.

A motorcycle policeman and railroad employes saw the plane struggling to stay in the air, swoop down as though to land, then crash against the car. They summoned aid and hurried to the scene.

Asks Rescuers for Cigarette.

Foote and Parsons were found where they had been catapulted through the roof of the cockpit. Foote had several fractures of the skull and internal injuries. He asked his rescuers for a cigarette and wished to know if he was in New York. Parsons suffered a broken leg and was severely cut and bruised but was conscious when picked up. The bodies of the dead were found tangled in the wreckage of the cabin.

The accident happened at 5:08 p. m., at a desolate spot on the Jersey meadows between Newark and Elizabethport, about a mile from the airport. The crash came only a few minutes after the plane had started on what was to have been the last flight for the day.

Pilot's Experience in Flying.

Foote came to Newark four days ago to join the Colonial Airway fliers. He had been employed at the Ford airplane factory in Detroit building and flying ships of the type of the wrecked plane. He learned to fly during the war and had 2,500 hours flying time in his record. He had 200 flying hours on Ford ships and was a graduate of the Ford training school.

Dudley Rowland, operating manager of the Colonial Airways, was at a "total loss" to explain the disaster.

The plane, which had a carrying capacity of fourteen passengers and two pilots, was one of a fleet operating by Colonial in daily flights over New York harbor and Manhattan. It made several trips yesterday before the crash. The owners announced it had been found in perfect condition before the fatal flight.

The plane was handled safely Saturday in a freak wind and rain storm by Captain Edwin Weatherdon, with a full load of passengers.

Mayor Calls Conference.

Mayor Jerome T. Congleton called a conference this morning in an effort to bring together governmental and other agencies which will investigate the disaster. Officials went to the scene for an inspection before joining Congleton at city hall.

Among those the mayor invited to confer with him was General John F. O'Ryan, president of Colonial Airways, Inc., owners of the machine.

EAGLE ATTACKS AND IMPEDES AIRPLANE

Dessau, Germany, March 18 (AP).—The Junkers Aeroplane Works here said today that one of the regular planes between Cracow and Lemberg had been attacked by an eagle and its progress impeded. The terrific swoops of the huge bird caused the plane to rock very badly.

The monarch of the air finally broke its neck on the metal wing of the plane. When the ship arrived at Lemberg the wing was found deeply dented.

Ambulance Calls Here.

This morning the city ambulance removed Catherine Wolfersheim from 4 Brook street to the Benedictine Hospital, and Ruth Matthews from 91 West Union street to the Kingston Hospital. On Saturday the ambulance removed Dennis Doyle from 336 Clinton avenue to the Benedictine Hospital.

Launch Flagship of Lake Fleet Here

Mary and Melvin, an Up-to-Date Canal Boat Built For Captain Chapman and Launched Saturday —Sister Craft Ordered.

The Mary and Melvin, a canal boat of up-to-date structure, which contains captain's quarters equal to that of any present day cozy little bungalow, was launched into the waters of the Rondout Creek Saturday afternoon, while a hundred or more spectators stood on the property of the W. F. & R., Inc., boat yard, where the boat was built. It is owned by Captain Melvin Chapman and was constructed after his own plans and specifications.

Captain Chapman, a native of Hawley, Pa., is a veteran of the transportation business. He got his start on the Delaware & Hudson canal as a driver and when that waterway was closed went to work for the late U. S. Senator Thomas J. Scully, who owned a fleet of boats that plied the Hudson river and the waters about New York harbor.

Seeing a bright future in the transportation business, Mr. Chapman purchased his first boat about 20 years ago. He was successful and soon had several boats under his command. Years passed and Mr. Chapman kept pace with the advance of the transportation business. His boats not only sailed the waters of the Hudson, but crossed the state by way of the barge canal.

He realized the advantage of owning a brand new boat and went to a friend, Philip Woods, of the W. F. & R., Inc., boatbuilders, who had been a companion of his on the old Delaware & Hudson canal. Mr. Woods agreed to have his firm build a boat to the exact specifications given by Captain Chapman. The result was the Mary and Melvin which was launched Saturday.

Captain Chapman is very proud of his boat, so much so that he invited a number of his friends to see the canaler launched. Many old boatmen stood on the dock and admired the craft as she slid off the dock, ship-launch fashion, and complimented him on his idea of an up-to-date boat. The launch was classed as one of the most perfect ever executed along the creek.

The Mary and Melvin, which will be the future home of Captain and Mrs. Chapman, nee Mary Dolan of this city, who are well known in Kingston, was sent into the creek with a ceremony that was fit for any glorious craft. Joseph R. Hutton, a fellow boatman of Mr. Chapman's, who has a fleet traveling the barge canal, christened the boat, which was decorated with penants and floated a huge American flag from its staff.

After launching, the Mary and Melvin, which is to sail as the flagship of the Lake Transportation Company's fleet, Captain Chapman presented every man who worked on the boat with a new dollar bill and a choice cigar. Mr. Chapman, who pays cash for his boats, left an order with the W. F. & R., Inc., for a sister craft, which is to be ready some time this summer.

Opens Branch of Aviation School

Captain Charles A. Rogers of the Aviation Service and Transportation Corporation of Chicago has opened a branch of the corporation's school at the Eagle Hotel here. Twenty-four men will be accepted from this city for entrance into the school. Upon completion of the course employment is immediately given for a period of five years. Men from 18 to 35 years are eligible. Captain Rogers will remain here for about seven weeks. His hours during the week days at the Eagle will be from 11 to 12 in the morning, 2 to 4 in the afternoon and 7 to 8 in the evening.

Captain Rogers is a skilled aviator and has performed stunts of daring and also has been assigned to many important missions. He entered the United States Army air service following his graduation from Colgate, where he was a member of the football team. One of his greatest missions following the war was an aerial trip to Mexico to place a wreath at the grave of Caranza.

The office at the Eagle was opened today by Captain Rogers, who comes here from Ithaca. He has not a plane in Kingston as his duty is to secure applicants who are given transportation to Chicago.

Local Knights At Communion And Breakfast

Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, annual Communion was held Sunday morning at St. Mary's Church and was followed by the Communion breakfast served at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Michael M. Dunn, chairman on Catholic affairs of New York State Knights of Columbus Councils, was the principal speaker of the occasion and he brought a message that if taken to heart by the membership of Kingston Council will result in a bigger and broader council, more worthwhile activity and better Knights of Columbus. The purpose of the speaker's talk, in which he neither minced words nor attempted eloquence, was two-fold. He graphically outlined the work that is being carried out by the department of which he is the head and emphasized the part that falls upon the shoulders of every member by citing many interesting and potent examples.

Mr. Dunn prefaced his remarks by a glowing tribute to State Treasurer Patrick T. Murphy of this city, declaring him one of the best workers in the state and a man well versed in Columbianism and also a great help in conventions.

A striking example of the manner in which members of the order sometimes shirk their part was illustrated by the speaker who related the story of a young Catholic girl who, in search of employment, was unsuccessful because of her religious convictions. Self glorification upon the part of a member of the order, who was influential in the community, kept him from acting on the situation, but a non-Catholic when approached immediately remedied it. Other instances which showed lack of courage upon the part of Catholics were brought out by the speaker, who exhorted the members of Kingston Council to come forward and put into practice the lessons taught by the degrees of the order.

In speaking of the many tasks of his department he told of cases that were brought to his attention that necessitated his going to Washington, D. C. He particularly stressed his mission to the National Capital in an endeavor to put a stop to the broadcasting of remarks, previous to the recent national election, that Catholics in this country should be denied the right of suffrage. These and other attacks made by paid bigots against the twenty million Catholics, the speaker said, kept him very busy.

Other Speakers.

Grand Knight Bernard A. Feeney, who acted as toastmaster, called attention to the occasion of their annual Communion falling on the natal day of the patron saint of Ireland, which aroused the emotions of many of the members who were of Irish parentage. He also thanked the members for their cooperation and congratulated them upon their splendid demonstration, which he termed an open manifestation of their faith.

The Rev. Chaplain Francis X. FitzPatrick was the first speaker called upon following the serving of the breakfast. The chaplain gave a scholarly address on the recent solution of the Roman question, that was listened to with marked attention. Conciliation between the Roman Catholic Church and state in Italy, the speaker said, was a great accomplishment for the church but not in the manner as believed by many. By the signing of the concordat the church has temporal sovereignity but not temporal power; on this point many, he declared, are confused.

District Deputy Snyder of Ravena told of the recent allocation of Councils in which Kingston Council was transferred from the downriver district to the upstate district. He congratulated the members on their fine showing and urged them to take part in all the activities of the Council.

Dr. Bruce Whelan sang a number of Irish songs that were lustily applauded.

J. Edward Conway delivered a very forceful address on the necessity today for an enlightened laity on things Catholic. Many attacks, he declared, were being made on the church and the laity would be called upon to answer. This is an age of inquiry and of course the greatest organization that the world has ever known could not be excluded. The greatest menace to the church he further stated were paid propagandists, who by their distortions and malicious lies were poisoning the minds of many who failed to investigate. A well informed Catholic laity was absolutely necessary to combat these forces the speaker declared.

The breakfast was made more delightful by John Erne's orchestra which rendered selections throughout the serving of the breakfast. The attendance taxed the capacity of the dining room but the overflow was taken care of and all voiced their praise of the meal and the prompt service.

Record Attendance

The annual communion was attended by a record crowd at St. Mary's. The services which were held at 9 o'clock were conducted by the Rev. Father FitzPatrick assisted by the Rev. William H. Kennedy. During the Mass the Knights of Columbus choir rendered hymns. Father Fitz-

Ventriloquism

The essential mechanism of ventriloquism consists in taking a full breath then keeping the muscles of the chest and neck fixed, and speaking with the mouth almost closed and the lips and lower jaw as motionless as possible while air is very slowly expired through a narrow glottis. No air must escape through the nose.

Club Federation To Help Beautify

give, his talk was quite dissimilar to the one that he gave to The Monday Club earlier in the season. The story of reforesting work along the reservoir and entire water system is always a fascinating one, particularly as given by Mr. Clapp who stated that some 3,500,000 trees have been planted from Gilboa to New York.

Kingston Noted for Trees.

He spoke then of Kingston being noted for its beautiful trees, in fact as beautiful as those in any city he knew. Mention was made of a great plane tree, also a fine honey locust near the corners of Crown and John streets. There had stood between them an especially fine specimen of linden tree, Mr. Clapp stated, but it had been ruthlessly cut down in its prime and in its place there now stands an ugly and unsightly tall, dark colored pole with cross bar, draped with wires, a thing which should never have been allowed as it was quite unnecessary. Another unusual tree found in several places in Kingston was the ginko or fern-leaf tree, which Mr. Clapp stated was the only tree now growing exactly as it grew so long ago that we have fossil remains of the tree. There are several particularly handsome specimens of this tree here.

In this connection the speaker stated that the study of trees is not confined to growing trees but is carried back with great interest by the science of palcobotany into eras millions of years ago, and there followed an intensely interesting account of the fossil trees of Gilboa. It was noted that while a single tree is fixed and cannot move, forests can and do move and have actually made pilgrimages from near the North Pole southward and back again.

Said the speaker, "The oldest living thing on this earth is one of the great sequoya or redwood trees of California."

Value of Shade Trees.

Having aroused the general interest in trees historic as well as of the present day, Mr. Clapp talked of our own trees, reminding his hearers that shade trees have a far greater value than their wood, and should not be wantonly injured, either by individuals or public service agencies.

Mr. Clapp then talked of trees to be planted about a city, giving the proper choice of trees; according to shape, healthy condition, good foliage and neatness—not dropping unsightly litter. He advocated the planting of such trees back of the sidewalk.

It was stated that trees from nurseries were more likely to thrive than those taken from nearby woods or fields even though apparently desirable. If such trees are put into a nursery in the city and allowed to grow for a year or two, then they may thrive like other nursery trees. Incidentally the speaker told what trees not to use for city planting; rapid growers, fruit or nut trees.

The interested audience was also given a short description of how to plant desirable trees, also how to water and prune them properly.

What Federation Might Do.

The needless destruction of maiming of trees within the city was again mentioned, and Mr. Clapp closed his talk with a very practical and worthwhile suggestion to the federation of a plan whereby they could do much to help maintain Kingston's beauty furnished by its trees. He said that a small, enthusiastic committee from the federation working with a like committee of interested and influential business men, including the mayor could work wonders along this line. While there is very little money available from the city for this purpose, there are other available factors of great value. He had learned that the city has recently acquired a considerable area of land, perhaps forty acres or more on Delaware avenue, near Hasbrouck avenue. This offers the possibility of developing an excellent city nursery where trees can be given nursery treatment before being planted along the streets. Small trees could be acquired in various ways. Several interested persons owning large wooded areas have suggested that they could supply a considerable quantity of small trees suitable for this very sort of nursery planting. They can also be obtained from several reputable dealers near at hand.

Mr. Clapp said that if it was found feasible to start such a movement he felt confident that the mayor would do all in his power to help the good work along, and he further believed, though without actually having the authority to speak so plainly, that some labor could be obtained from the city to help care for and maintain these trees. Incidentally this nursery could be in the nature of a park, and could be so arranged. In closing Mr. Clapp said he knew that the mayor, who is fond of trees, would aid in any way possible and he, himself, would gladly help in any way he could to preserve Kingston's beautiful trees and to plant new ones where needed.

Mr. Clapp was given a rising vote of thanks for his splendid and inspiring as well as helpful talk. In fact this is the particular civic work for which the federation is trying to raise money through the coming card party.

New Type Of Headlight Shows Up Rum Runners

Schenectady, N. Y. (AP).—A new type of non-glare automobile headlight is helping state police in this vicinity to catch night rum runners.

With this light the officers can see the springs of trucks, getting a close-up just before the instant of passing that reveals whether the truck carries an extra heavy load. Springs unduly flattened are likely to draw a chase.

Use of the lights excites no special suspicion, because the lamps in appearance are ordinary equipment. Their beam is crescent shaped, lying face downward over the road, and so wide that its bright rays cover the full width of road and ditches on both sides, from the front wheels to a distance of more than 250 feet ahead. It illuminates fields for 50 feet on each side. It requires no changing of beams or brilliance, as its bright radiance is nowhere more than waist high. Above that is diffused illumination.

Projecting forward from the lamp housings about an inch, lenses with edges ground to give frosted effect give light for reading of road signs and for recognizing persons in passing cars at right angles to travel. The lenses distribute light 15 degrees backward from the lamps.

The effects come mainly from a new type of reflector, designed by Dr. Walter D'Arcy Ryan, director of the illuminating laboratory of the General Electric Company.

Although the reflector resembles the conventional shape somewhat, carrying the bulb in the middle of the concave, it is modified so that the maximum rays for the longest range do not come out of the center as in ordinary practice. Instead all of them are projected from the top, coming from under the brows of the housing.

This effect is obtained from 19 curves in the surface of the reflector, no two alike, and each accurate to within one thousandth of an inch.

Illuminating engineers, Dr. Ryan says, can save a definite proportion of the 25,000 lives lost annually in automobile accidents by teaching the public headlight consciousness. He says there are two headlight factions, one favoring a dual beam system, and the other, like himself, advocating "a single beam having all the advantages of a long range beam for distance and a short range beam for spread, without the disadvantage of either as applied to the dual system."

Sing Sing for Two Politicians

New York, March 18 (AP).—Terms of four to eight years each in Sing Sing Prison today were imposed on Frank M. Berg, Jr. and Albert Levin, Queens county politicians, who were convicted last week of attempted bribery of George U. Harvey, Queens borough president.

Judge Frank Adel, who sentenced the men in Queens county court, granted a stay of execution of sentence until April 1 to permit counsel to file an appeal or ask a certificate of reasonable doubt. Until one of these is granted, they will be held in Queens county jail.

Under the Baumes Laws Berg and Levin must serve at least four years of their sentence and the balance will be determined by their behavior.

The two men were convicted on charges brought by Harvey that they had offered him $200,000 bribe to favor contractors in the so-called Queens sewer graft ring. Angelo Palmo, wealthy contractor, who testified he had put up the $10,000 as campaign contribution, has been arrested on a charge of perjury.

Ottinger Robbed In Front of Home

New York, March 18 (AP).—Albert Ottinger, former attorney general and the Republican candidate for governor last year, was held up early today in front of his home at 23 West 75th street, and robbed of $75.

Mr. Ottinger had spent the evening at a club and reached home in a taxicab about 1 o'clock. The cab stopped several doors away from No. 23, a private house occupied by Mr. Ottinger and his brother, Leon.

As Mr. Ottinger started up the steps of his home a man about 25 years old stepped to his side and pressed a revolver against his body. The robber ordered him to walk up the steps. Then he directed:

"Give me all you've got."

After receiving the $75, he ordered Mr. Ottinger to unlock the door and enter the vestibule. He then ran down the steps and escaped.

Montgomery, Ala., March 18 (AP).—Major W. R. Weaver, commandant of the Fourth Corps Area army flying field at Maxwell Field here, reported to Governor Graves today after an airplane flight down the Alabama river that "people were hanging to tree tops" in Lowndes county.

Weaver said the situation is so grave that he will again fly over the area this afternoon, accompanied by the governor.

World Court Approves Protocol

Geneva, March 18 (AP).—The text of a protocol for the adhesion of the United States to the world court was unanimously approved in final reading at this afternoon's session of the jurists commission and will be transmitted to the United States immediately.

The stipulation that the League of Nations would notify some persons to be designated by the United States of the council's intention to request an advisory opinion was changed, presumably to avoid any idea that the United States has a permanent representative with the League. Under the present arrangement the League is authorized to notify the United States through diplomatic channels.

The first part of the new Article IV, which deals with the American reservation on advisory opinions, has been remodeled so that it is about the same as the original phraseology used by Elihu Root, who presented the project.

LAPSES FROM POLICIES.

All Presidents have their troubles and that Mr. Hoover will have his also is inevitable. In fact, they have begun already, the most serious so far being the discovery that Mr. Lamont, his Secretary of Commerce, even as late as 1928 was a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Then there is his talk about abolishing the White House "Spokesman" and the noonday handshaking, not to mention his failure to follow the Coolidge policy of "a two-hour nap after luncheon." The last mentioned failure "to follow" according to promise is not attracting much attention, little ever having been said about it, and the country generally, in consequence, lacking information in the connection. But Coolidge enthusiasts may find it hard to forgive the other two lapses.

And yet if Mr. Hoover should put aside the "Spokesman" screen and speak to the correspondents openly, weighing his words after due reflection, one would think the country ought to like him the better for that. And if he abolishes the noonday handshaking he will at least have the excuse of no nap whereby to rest up after the strain, and he can honorably abolish the nap on the ground that he is too busy to take the necessary time. He might even reasonably contend that in any case his mind is too active to permit of such daily relaxation. Yet here again there is danger. It will be recalled that from certain high finance quarters known to be well satisfied with the Coolidge record there came protest against Mr. Hoover's nomination on the ground that he has "too active a mind for a President." On the whole it would seem to be wiser for Mr. Hoover just to be himself, and obey his own leading inclinations, without trying to follow the Coolidge policies too closely.

FACTORIES OF NEW SLANG.

The colleges and the underworld have their factories of new slang, but the busiest and most productive is out in Hollywood. The most pointed of the college product finally gets to the public, but the underworld product, a secret code for professional use, filters out but little because it is kept under lock and key. Moreover, the public would naturally be more tolerant of the picturesque slang of relatively innocent hobos. Hollywood slang, on the other hand, is free for all as fast as it can be picked up. Already "closeup," "fade-out" and a few more have been widely adopted, their employment being more humorous or ironical than they are in movie usage. An amusing example of the rapid slang invention in Hollywood, quite intelligible at points and rather mystifying at others, is given by Mr. Wells Root in the Bookman as follows:

The boy is tied to one of the posts holding up the hut. He hears the girl yelling and pulls the post out by the roots, nearly tearing down the works. Upstairs the heavy has the girl by the neck. The boy's busted loose and starts up another post. He reaches the window, his foot slips. Klunk! We double a stunt man for the fall. Again the boy starts up. This time he makes it. He's inside the room. Socko! The heavy goes into the gauze and we've saved the girl's honor. With the underpinning loose and the three of them up there the hut's weaving. "Darling," and they go into a clinch. But the heavy comes to, and Whamo! The boy goes down bam. And Sonk.

Running a school lunch room is a little different from running a public restaurant. In the latter, profits come first. In the former, although the managers wish to come out even, they care more about the health of young patrons than about larger profits. It is usually found that children, shopping for their lunch, are careful of every penny. Thus a lunch room manager found she could get them to eat vegetables and fresh fruits simply by pricing those things a cent or two lower than hot dogs and other less-digestible articles that were in considerable demand. Milk at five cents a glass wasn't particularly popular. Reduced to four cents a glass the youngsters drank it as enthusiastically as pop or soda water. Ice cream at five cents a dish proved more popular than pie at seven cents a wedge. Maybe the youngsters will learn to prefer wholesome foods by these school lunch experiences, and maybe they won't. The important thing is that they are eating wisely in their growing years. They can go in for pie and hot dogs and other so-called dietetic follies later on, if they wish, with less danger to their systems.

There was something more than official courtesy in Senator Robinson's graceful lament that certain familiar faces would no longer be seen in the upper chamber. Senator Bruce of Maryland enjoyed the respect of his associates. Senator Reed of Missouri was acknowledged to be a powerful debater even by those who often failed to agree with him. The departure of Mr. Bayard of Delaware removed a family name which had achieved continuous distinction in the Senate for generations.

The report that "talkies" have been installed in American state legislatures has been unchivalrously interpreted to mean merely that there are now thirty-eight women members of State assemblies.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By

JAMES W. BARTON, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act).

YOUR MARGIN OF SAFETY.

You are not feeling very well and discover that your heart is beating faster than usual, and the clinical thermometer shows a rise in temperature.

Now this is not comforting in one sense and yet Nature's method of fighting trouble is to increase your heart beat and raise the temperature. It is the fight Nature is putting up for you that causes the heat.

There is an immediate increase in the number of white corpuscles in the blood to fight off the harmful organisms that have got into your body. In fact your doctor knows how severe the trouble is by the amount of increase in the number of white corpuscles in your blood. Now although Nature does this for you when you are not well, it is really only what she is doing for you all the time even when you are well.

You have two eyes, two nostrils, two lungs, two kidneys.

You have not two stomachs (fortunately).

Although you only have one heart and one liver they are both capable of doing many times the ordinary work required of them when an emergency arises.

Dr. Harvey Kellogg reminds us that the organs of internal secretion, such as the thyroid, can do fifteen times more work than they are doing, should it be necessary.

The kidneys can do ten times as much work.

The ordinary work of the skin causes a perspiration that you do not even notice because the skin may not appear to be even moist, and yet an ounce of sweat or perspiration is being manufactured every hour. During hard work on a hot day or in a heated atmosphere the amount of perspiration may be increased thirty to forty times.

Nature's care for us by giving us this "margin of safety" is not to encourage us to be extravagant or careless with our vital energy, but to enable us to overcome emergencies that may arise.

The thought then is that you were given a body capable of doing extra work when necessity arises. You have only three things, and three only, to watch, to preserve the margin of safety.

These three things are food, rest and exercise. Your meals five to six hours apart, with fruit and vegetables every day and eggs if they agree with you. Meat if you work hard. Meat and eggs are the best builders of tissue when tissue has been used up by work or exercise.

"My Thirty Years at Sea"

by CAPTAIN GEORGE FRIED

No more dramatic sea rescue is to be found in modern shipping chronicles than that of the British freighter Antinoe. Fried tells a gripping story of how he mastermined the President Roosevelt in the first hours after he received the SOS. Once—after establishing contact—he lost the freighter and feared she might have gone down with all hands. But she was picked up again and the battle to save her human cargo got under way as a violent squall struck the vessels.

By CAPT. GEORGE FRIED
[Copyright, 1929, Associated Press]

CHAPTER XIX—PART I

The first real rescue in which I participated was when I was master of the President Roosevelt. The vessel was bound from New York by way of channel ports for Bremen. The SOS call from the British freighter Antinoe was picked up by my radio operator at 5:40 a. m., Sunday, January 24, 1926. She gave her approximate position as latitude 46.10 north and longitude 29.58 west, having taken no observation for 36 hours.

The weather was overcast with snow and hail squalls and a westerly gale with a blowing force of ten. Immediately I changed our course and started for the position given, expecting to be in her vicinity in about three hours. My chief radio operator, Mr. Upton, was stationed at the radio compass getting a bearing of the Antinoe every 15 minutes. These bearings indicated that her position was about 50 miles in error. Following the course of this compass the Antinoe was picked up at 12:10 p. m.

I maneuvered the President Roosevelt, taking a position to windward about 500 yards away. The Antinoe was lying in the trough of the sea, listing heavily to starboard with high waves sweeping over her. Her engines were turning slowly and she was headed in a northerly direction, apparently trying to come up into the wind to heave to. But her steering gear was out of order. A large ice box had been carried from its regular place and in some way jammed the steering apparatus.

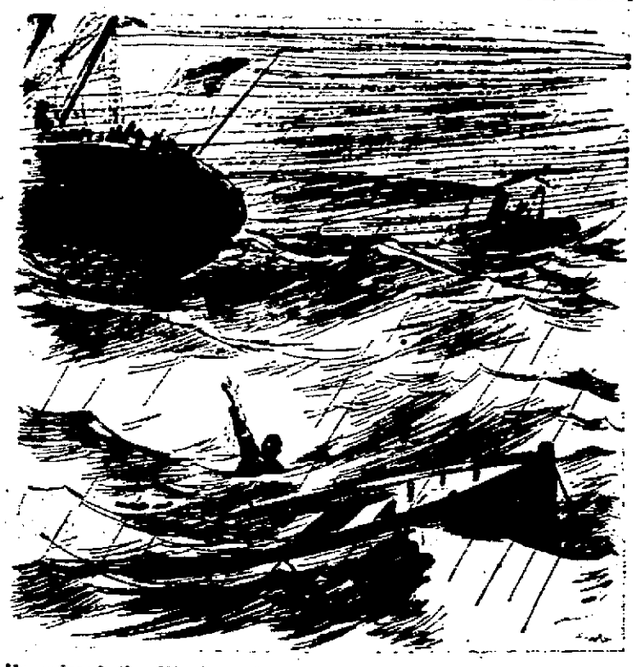
I asked the Antinoe's master if he wished to abandon his ship, how many were in the crew, and if they had life belts. He answered that he wanted to be given a little time, as they were endeavoring to secure number three hatch and repair the steering gear. They were having difficulty in keeping the steam up because water was entering the fire room. The cargo of grain had shifted to starboard but the captain hoped to keep afloat until the weather moderated.

The President Roosevelt stood by. Fuel oil was pumped overboard, to calm the seas, at the rate of about three tons an hour. Maintaining a position about 400 yards to windward, the results were very satisfactory. I kept the engine turning over slowly all Sunday afternoon and until 9 p. m. that evening. Frequent violent hail and snow squalls of hurricane force completely shut the Antinoe from view. Her warning lights were extinguished and her radio became silent. Several hours later the weather again moderated. Attempts to communicate with her by wireless failed and as visibility increased it was apparent we had lost her. I did not know whether she had gone down with all hands or whether she was drifting helplessly without steam and no means of communication.

Monday I cruised back and forth in an effort to pick her up. Finally, about 1 o'clock, we again sighted her. The wind was now southwest and moderating. We took a position this time 200 yards on her port beam and again pumped fuel oil overboard.

The captain of the Antinoe then hoisted signals to the effect that he was ready to abandon the ship but had no boats, all having been swept away. His engine and fire rooms were flooded.

My chief officer, Robert Miller, and the volunteer crew of seven men whom he had selected, cleared away. The boat was lowered with a long sea painter fore and one aft. Fraping lines were used around the boat falls to steady it while it was being lowered. The crew, with life jackets on, was pulling away from the ship when a violent snow and hail squall struck us and kicked up a heavy sea.



"...He missed the life line thrown to him and was carried away..."

The life boat climbed one of these heavy combers and almost stood on end. The crew was tossed to the other end and then into the water, but fortunately the life boat was right side up. In about three minutes all hands managed to scramble aboard again.

I ordered the life boat back and just as it was alongside another heavy sea threw the entire crew into the water a second time. They were close to the ship, however, and lifelines and ladders were thrown to them to get aboard. Two men lost their grip on the life lines, which undoubtedly were slippery because of the oil. The master at arms, Wirtanen, seemed to have taken hold of a line on the stern of the boat and it appeared to me that he was trying to drift the boat and steer it with his powerful body, toward the Antinoe. He got within about 50 feet of the disabled ship and then left the boat to swim the short distance. But he missed the life line thrown to him and was carried away. That was the last seen of him.

The other man, Boatswain's Mate Heitmann probably was knocked unconscious against the side of the ship and he disappeared. It was dark now, visibility was poor and the storm was increasing in intensity. We used the searchlight to see if we could find the lost men, but we could get no trace of them. We found the lifeboat and got directly alongside of it, but there was no trace of anyone in or near the boat. I continued the search for some time but finally had to abandon it as it was hopeless. I maneuvered back again in view of the Antinoe so as not to lose sight of her. She was laying dead in the water. Again we took a position to the windward and once more pumped oil over the water.

Dr. Moldenhawer At Union Service

Service Held Under Auspices of Y. W. C. A. Largely Attended by Audience Who Hear Inspirational Address.

A union service of the Protestant churches of the city was held on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Fair Street Reformed Church, in response to the invitation extended by the Kingston Young Women's Christian Association for their annual inspirational service.

A group of Girl Reserves in costume acted as ushers at the church and the singing was led by the Schubert Choral Club, Miss Los Kamp conducting. The special speaker for the afternoon was the Rev. Dr. J. V. Moldenhawer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, New York city, and successor to the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick.

Mrs. G. F. Rice, president of the Y. W. C. A., presided at the meeting and with her on the platform were the guest of the afternoon and the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, pastor of the church.

Following the organ prelude played by the organist, Mrs. William S. Eltinge, the hymn, "Lead On, O King Eternal", was sung and prayer was offered by Dr. Seeley.

The Schubert Choral Club then sang an anthem, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God, Almighty."

Introduced by Dr. Seeley.

Before introducing Dr. Moldenhawer, Dr. Seeley expressed his satisfaction in having the members of the Young Women's Christian Association and their friends as the guests of the church. He told how, back some thirty-two years ago, as he was leaving the church at Margaretville, his successor, a young man of great leadership, came to the church. Later this man was called to Albany to fill an important charge, and finally Dr. Moldenhawer was called from Albany to be the successor of the Rev. Dr. Fosdick at the First Presbyterian Church in New York city. Dr. Seeley said he was proud to introduce his very dear friend, a great prophet, teacher and Christian, Dr. J. V. Moldenhawer.

Dr. Moldenhawer expressed his belief in the soundly prophetic and thoroughly Christian character of the Young Women's Christian Association and in the work it is doing in bringing Christ and the young women of the lands to each other.

Faith in a Real Christ Necessary.

The speaker took as his subject or theme, "Faith in Christ". It was his opinion that the time has come that such a faith in a real Christ is necessary if we are to stand with out feet on the Rock of Ages, to be solid under foot. To the person who would remind him that he could not turn back the hands of the clock to the days of a belief in the personality of Christ, Dr. Moldenhawer said he would quickly reply that turning back the hands of the clock was not only a simple process but very often a desirable and greatly needed one.

The preacher said he believed that Jesus was, and founded that belief on what Christ said about Himself. The story of His baptism was shown to be vivid, convincing and yet too careless to be anything but the truth. There was point to Christ's description of the Holy Ghost descending upon Him in the shape of a dove, because the dove was most familiar to the young men about, who taught the doves to return to their home. It was a bird that had a perfect sense of its destination, like the spirit which came upon Him.

In the account of the triumphal entry, Christ not only made use of the donkey to reprove His followers of their almost demand that he should come with great power, but to fulfill the Old Testament prophecy, that one should come, "Lowly, and riding upon an ass, and a colt, the foal of an ass." Nor was Christ fanatical. He was rather critical because He was so convinced of His own Sonship at the same time that He saw how even His friends were not positively convinced of it.

What Faith Has Accomplished.

In His terrible humanness He shrank from the ordeal of Gethsemane. He was real, and therefore He was and is Lord of countless multitudes. And if it had not been for their faith in this real Christ there never would have been a St. Paul, a St. Peter, a St. Patrick, a Joan d'Arc, a Livingston, our missionary men of today. In closing, Dr. Moldenhawer said that the Y. W. C. A. was engaged in a great work that was not merely giving a pleasant time to the young women of today, but in the work of putting persons who believe in Christ in personal contact and touch with others that they, too, may learn what faith in Christ really is, that faith by means of which we lift up our hearts in prayer today.

The service closed with an anthem sung by the Schubert Choral Club as an offertory, the singing of "America the Beautiful," and the pronouncing of the Benediction by Dr. Moldenhawer.

HIMALAYA YIELDS OLD TEMPLE RUIN

Important Excavations Made by Germans.

Berlin.—After severe hardships and perilous Himalayan ascents the German explorer, Dr. Emil Trinkler, has returned from his year and a half's travels in central Asia. At a reception given in his honor in Bremen Doctor Trinkler described the valuable findings which his expedition made in the fields of history, science and art.

The journey started from Cashmir at the foot of the Himalayas. During 13 months the German explorers pushed their way across mountain passes, all at an altitude of 17,000 feet or more. Using caravans, they traversed vast desert expanses.

The most important scientific findings were made in the Takla-Makan desert, where the Germans remained for four months, digging out ancient villages which had been buried during sandstorms. These excavations revealed temple ruins, valuable works of sculpture and amorettes, mostly characteristic of the era of Greek-Buddhist culture. This civilization arose between 2000 B. C. and 1000 A. D., and was swept into central Asia from northwestern India.

The Germans brought with them significant relics of the Eighth century, notably manuscripts, textiles, and paintings. During their geological researches they ascertained that huge glaciers had descended upon and covered central Asia in prehistoric ages.

Relics of the expedition will be presented to the Bremen municipal museum.

Doctor Trinkler, on his return, spoke highly of the assistance rendered him and his companions by the British authorities in India. He complained bitterly, however, regarding the attitude of Chinese officials, who, he said, had placed many difficulties in the expedition's path and attempted to prevent removal of the relics. Doctor Trinkler said that the Chinese difficulties were surmounted only after the German legation in Peking had intervened.

Interesting Colors on Spring Fashion Card

Beige and tan, and occasionally gray, used to be the colors for mid-season coats hinting of spring. June Regney now streams dark green, a color generally approved.

Red also is in high favor and is particularly sponsored by Lanvin. These two colors, green and red, follow immediately in the wake of black on the color list.

SPRING STYLES BECOMING A FACT INSTEAD OF A THEORY

New York—That Paris concern herself with continuing along the lines of its past successes has already been noted. As spring gets under way, and clothes come out of the shop windows and into the highways and fashionable byways, it becomes apparent that women in general have no quarrel with the repetition of winter ideas interpreted in spring fabrics. There seems such a wealth of new ideas in current use that we are in no danger of a monotony of style, even though there are no drastic changes for months to come.

Patou is generally credited with having contributed the most interesting silhouette of the season. This is developed along princess lines coupled with a flowing skirt, and is quite universally approved.

The recurrence of the princess silhouette, and the acceptance of the flare in coats provide interesting topics of conversation. The coat seemingly remained straight as long as it consistently could. Evidentally it had to give way to more flowing lines if only to accommodate the full skirts beneath. Spring coats remain decidedly important although the jacket has had the lion's share of publicity. Coats vary in length and detail almost as much as do dresses. Unlike dresses they are more conservative in color. The all-black coat remains the most distinguished for afternoon, with navy a runner up for less formal occasions? The collarless coat has the element of novelty, and has had a most stimulating effect on the demand for scarfs which remain brilliant in color and often eccentric, even amusing in design.

Although the spring tailleur has become feminized, it is a tailleur none the less and has many out of the usual features, such as a nip-in waistline in some instances and such as a blouse of the tuck-in type. Blouses, for all their reversion to the skirt waist type are decidedly feminine, being remarkable for the "dressmaker" detail, a feature of nearly every spring costume other than those designed primarily for sports wear. The repeated use of lingerie at the neckline and the substitution of bows for other fastenings are among the most arresting blouse details.

Quite naturally the reclaimed tailored suit has brought about an interest in the separate waist, and also quite naturally the separate skirt presents itself, incidentally, in new and very smart guise. The tendency to flare is encouraged in separate skirts, in fact it may now be said that straight lines are hardly more than a memory, most costumes showing a determination to turn their back upon them. Indeed flares are occuring most often at the back, this section of the gown remaining of particular interest to designers.

That there is a radical change in hats is obvious. The smartest reveal the brow and show a tendency to widen at the side.

Careful Planning and Home Sewing

Fashion Authority Advises Women to Plan Early for New Duds.

When I hear women say they cannot afford nice clothes I always feel it is because they don't start getting them in time, says Jane Warren Watts, in the Farm and Fireside.

To start in time means to plan each season's clothes at least a month before they are needed. Then you can choose deliberately and make with care the fabrics that you buy.

When you need a new dress, do a little calculating for yourself and see if it does not pay to begin early to provide it. You can safely calculate in this way:

If you pay ten dollars for material, buy a pattern of suitable design, cut the dress correctly and finish it simply you should easily have a twenty-dollar dress when it is finished. There is ten dollars' worth of material and ten dollars' worth of labor, including the careful fitting that you would give the pattern and the dress.

But! If you take ten dollars' worth of material, put ten dollars' worth of labor into it and in addition put the ten dollars' worth of style, you have a thirty-dollar dress.

Style is added to a dress by means of an appropriate pattern design expressive of the new, by a correct selection of material for the pattern design, and a close observance of smart details in trimming and finishing.

Those of you who would have a thirty-dollar dress for ten dollars must aim to produce it by knowing what the fashion is and using your energy and interest to express it in your clothes.

The frock with the cascade flares could easily be made of four yards of printed crepe de chine of a lovely and flattering color. In this case it would take only care in fitting and finishing to make a really smart dress.

In buying a new pattern it is a good idea to take your bust measurement rather snugly and then order the pattern so that it will fit you just right. Smartness is often lost in dresses that are too loose.

Rayon Without Luster to Be Spring Offering

Georgette, always commanding our interest, is scheduled to be one of the smart materials for early season wearing.

Especially welcome is the news that a new fabric will appear—rayon georgette—lovely in texture and attractive because of its washable possibilities. It will be possible to obtain this in plain and printed versions.

Flat crepe made of rayon threads is another material shorn of its luster, which with the georgette, closely resembles real silk.

Fan Now More Popular Than for Several Years

Accessories in most of the new evening creations form a part of the ensemble. The fan, which is one of those elegancies that has returned stronger than for several years, is designed for particular gowns. Except for a few of unusual design, feather fans are considered less smart than those of the new velvet, metal cloth or tulle. Those of tulle are most cleverly made with sheaves of the material starched to look like long stiffened feathers.

Babies' Coats and Caps Are Trimmed With Fur

Fur is used generously on babies' coats and caps, and even on the carriage blankets. One of unique design is angora wool to put together so that it covers the child in the carriage, buttoning like an envelope, and is so arranged that long white angora fur protects the back and entirely covers the front, as though a lap robe.

That Mrs. Hoover's sponsorship of a rich purple or plum, for costume inauguration of her husband will no doubt give an added impetus to purple, already on the royal road to victory.

The addition of a cardigan jacket is deemed very smart just now. These cardigans are of any material, from chiffon to suede.

With the collarless coat, the scarf becomes an even more important spring accessory.

Socks have become a conspicuous part of all hosiery displays and are expected to offset somewhat the threatened stockingless craze.

All sun-tan shades are excellent in hosiery just now.

The two-color alliance in frocks is repeated in smart footwear.

Patou is credited with the most interesting silhouette contribution of the season, a princess with flowing skirt lines.

Peplum's ideas are becoming much in use.

Jacket costumes for day and evening remain very much in evidence.

The printed jacket costumes loom large on the spring horizon.

Asymmetric lines are still noticeable in coats and costumes.

Was Well Repaid For Using Nu-Erb

Indigestion, Backache, Headaches and Nervousness Relieved By Short Treatment of The Famous Medicine.

"Nu-Erb was worth ten times the price I paid for it and because of the relief it has given me from stomach, kidney and liver troubles I want to recommend it to others," said Mr. Clarence W. Bell, 26 Du-Bois St., Kingston, N. Y., who is employed by Grothkopp Baking Co., of this city.

"For some time past I have been troubled with indigestion and gas in my stomach. I'd get severe griping pains after my meals and great quantities of gas would form, bloating me and causing me much distress. My kidneys were very weak causing a dull, aching pain across my back and I'd get frequent dizzy spells, severe splitting headaches and at such times, my nerves would be so on edge that I couldn't sleep at night and was irritable and restless through the day.

"I have only used a few bottles of the Nu-Erb, but it has given me wonderful relief from the indigestion, gas and pains in my stomach. It has also relieved the backache, put an end to the dizzy spells and I have not had a headache since starting with the Nu-Erb. My nerves are steady, I sleep fine all night long and feel fine when I awaken in the morning."

Sufferers all over the country are finding out what wonderful good can be gained by using this harmless herbal remedy. Many claim that it is the only medicine that has reached the root of their ailments. It is a compound of 12 medicinal herbs, roots, leaves and barks. It offers helpful relief from stomach troubles, biliousness, gastritis, indigestion, weak kidneys, sick headaches, backaches, nervousness and rheumatism.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

All some folks are thinking about these days is the kind of scenery they will deck themselves out with on Easter Sunday.

It is strange that the Rhode Island "wets" are relying upon the help of Providence.

First Shopper: "I can't bear to have my children kissed by strangers."

Second Shopper: "Neither can I, but I can't help it. They're all over 18."

Few of us have to be tried to be found wanting.

"And after he kissed you three times, then what?"

"Well—then he began to get sentimental."

The girls who took their vaccination on their calves are not the ones who go stocklingless in the present instance. * * * "There goes a man to whom I owe a deep debt of gratitude," said he as a quiet old party walked by. "Once when the clouds were darkening and all the world looked cold, cheerless and unfriendly, he alone among others showed me confidence." "How was that?" asked the listener. "He loaned me an umbrella!" * * * "I've been engaged six times," said the cheerful woman, "but I've only been married once," she added with a sigh. * * * Be sure you are right, but before you go ahead it is safer to consult your wife about it.

Instead of going out to some flat field, cutting the brush and removing the stones, most of the planning for airports for air-minded towns is done by white-shirted boys across a luncheon table in a tea room.

Poor Crops.

Old Bill—Don't talk to me about crop failures. Why, when I was working over in Skunk county, nigh forty years ago, the oats were so low the sparrows had to git down on their knees to reach them.

The man who takes a cold bath every morning in winter should be prepared to enjoy heaven after having experienced so much of the other place here.

Mary had a little skirt,
So neat, so bright, so airy;
It never showed a speck of dirt
But it certainly showed Mary.

Taxiing Around The Airports

During the last month, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has marked 133 of its stations in midwestern states for the guidance of aviators. More than 1,800 towns in the United States have been reported to the department of commerce as adequately marked for air travel.

The New Orleans-Atlanta airway and the route between South Bend, Ind., to Kalamazoo, Mich., are to be completed in January, according to reports of field officials of the department of commerce aeronautics branch. The New Orleans to Atlanta route will be ready early in the month, while the other route is to be lighted by January 15.

Buffalo, N. Y., is considering the establishment of an airport for seaplanes in the outer harbor just south of the Buffalo river. One of the large companies operating lake steamers is planning to open a seaplane service between Buffalo, Detroit and Cleveland, providing the cities concerned provide suitable terminals.

The Central Illinois Public Service Company has completed an extensive air marking program of its many gas holders throughout the state of Illinois. The markers give the names of the towns in which each tank is located. Further work on the program calls for the painting of an arrow on the tanks pointing to the nearest airport.

The Midland, Tex., airport has been materially improved by the addition of several acres of land adjoining the airport to the north. The field, which is a stopping place for many fliers using the southern transcontinental route, now measures 4,500 by 3,200 feet with unusually clear approaches.

The cities of Gallipolis, Ohio, and Mt. Pleasant, W. Va., have reached an agreement to jointly operate the present Gallipolis airport, which will be known in the future as the Twin City airport.

John Nix and Company of New York plan the building of an airport on part of the company's plantation holdings near Charleston, S. C. A large and well-drained area is available and initial plans call for conditioning of a large area with the installation of full facilities to follow later.

Preliminary plans and specifications for the administration building of the Boston municipal airport have been drawn. The structure will be one story high with a two story control tower rising above the main building.

Card Party Was a Success.

One of the best card parties held in this city in recent years was that given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the local United Commercial Travelers at the Eagle Hotel last Friday evening. Over three hundred men and women competed for the splendid prizes so generously donated by local merchants. Bridge and pinochle were the games played and exceptionally high scores were tallied. Several donations were auctioned off which added to the total moneys taken for play. Refreshments were served and all present were loud in their praise for the ladies who put over the event.

COMMUNION

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TOO tired to rest, too weary now to sleep,
Across the west I watch the shadows creep,
Too sad to weep.

Who has not had this moment in the years,
A time too sad to be a time for tears,
Too dark for fears?

There comes a day when human hearts conceal
Too much to say, too much to quite reveal
How much we feel.

Speech is the balm of those who suffer least
There is a calm a thousandfold increased
When words have ceased.

There is a pow'r that lifts our souls again,
There is an hour we stand apart from men—
But near God then.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

HEAD TO THE NORTH

IT IS a rather common superstition that for a good sleep and for good health one should sleep with the head to the north. The Romans, as a rule, are said to have buried with the head to the north—where they did not incinerate. This is peculiar as the most ancient and universal form of burial with regard to direction was with the feet of the body to the east; a custom which is still largely observed in many parts of the world and is a remnant of sun-worship. Among both savage and civilized people this custom will still be found. The idea is that the corpse should face the rising sun, the giver of life and light.

Why should the Romans have varied this custom of orientation in burial unless, it may be, from some Egyption influence connected with the goddess Buto, who was called the "Goddess of the North"? They identified Buto with their own goddess Latona, the Greek Leto. Buto was the nurse of Horus and rocked him to seep; and with the ancients there was such a close connection between sleep and death that in the minds of primitive man the one was scarcely distinguished from the other. This explanation of the superstition with regard to the position of the head in sleeping is only offered tentatively. That it is derived from some very ancient idea is undoubted. But it appears to be one of those superstitions which are now and then found existing in remarkable vitality long after the connecting links in their pedigrees have been swallowed up in the abyss of time.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"FEBRUARY"

DID you feel more virtuous in the month of February than in the month of January? True—in so far as February is shorter than the other months of the year there is less opportunity for mischief; but that would hardly suffice as the reason for calling February a month of purity!

The story, however, is written in the origin of its name. For "February" comes from Februarius, the name of the Roman lustral festival for the celebration of which this month was appointed and which took place, according to our calendar, about February 15. It was the ancients' Festival of Purification, which has survived throughout the ages in the name of the second month of our year.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, March 18 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—Notwithstanding the plentiful supply of spinach available today, active demand resulted in a firmer wholesale market and slightly higher prices. Sales on bushel baskets of Curly Savoy were made at 85c-$1. Virginia spinach has commenced to arrive sparingly. Today's stock showed ordinary quality and realized only 50 cents a bushel.

Increased receipts of Florida new crop potatoes weakened the market further. Demand was limited and No. 1 Spaulding Rose peddled out at $7.50-$8 a barrel. Old crop potatoes were plentiful. The market was about steady. Trading was moderate. Northern New York round white potatoes in bulk jobbed out around $2.15 per 180 pounds. Maine Green Mountains brought $1.75-$2.40.

Receipts of strawberries from Florida were moderate. The market was steady and demand fair. Best offerings wholesaled at 35-45 cents a quart and poor to ordinary 20-30 cents a quart.

New York city strawberry receipts last week filled 66 cars against 119 the previous week.

Supplies of New York apples were moderate. Trading was moderate and the market without decided change. Wholesale business on western New York Baldwins of U. S. Grade No. 1, 2½ inch was at $5-$6 a barrel. McIntoshes of the same grade and size brought $10-$11; Rhode Island Greenings, $4.50-$6; Northern Spy, $5-$8.75; and other kinds $4.50-$7.50.

Receipts of asparagus from California are increasing. Demand was fair, with price changes few and small. Sales were made at $6-$25 per dozen bunches. Georgia and South Carolina consignments brought $3-$12.50.

Southern new crop white cabbage was plentiful. Despite fairly good demand, prices declined. One and one-half bushel hampers of various white varieties from Florida jobbed out at $1-$1.62½, mainly $1.25-$1.50. Old crop White Danish cabbage from upstate New York was in limited supply. Latest sales on bulk stock were at $50-$55 per ton.

Of 93 carloads of cabbage received last week old crop stock filled only three cars. New stock was drawn from Florida, Texas and Georgia.

May Rebuild Chapel to Honor a Priest

Sunbury, Wis.—The first chapel of the Premonstratensian order in Wisconsin may be restored in tribute to a pioneer Catholic priest who rode horseback to minister to a scattered flock nearly a century ago.

Father Adelbert Inama came to Wisconsin from Tyrol in 1845 as a member of the reformed monastery of canons of St. Norbert. An altar picture for his chapel was sent by King Louis I of Bavaria and the [illegible] of Vienna contributed funds for the parish.

A brick arch is the only remnant of Father Inama's historic shrine.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 18 (AP).—Several waves of selling swept through today's stock market, carrying many industrial and public utility issues down 1 to 6 points, but fresh support was quickly provided and a general recovery was under way by early afternoon. The frequent shifts of speculative sentiment reflected the battle of opposing speculative forces for control of the price movement, with the "bulls" apparently obtaining the largest outside following.

Wall Street apparently was not disturbed by the speech of Governor Young, of the Federal Reserve Board in Cincinnati on Saturday night, in which he reviewed the credit situation and stated that a rise in rediscount rates would be the last resort of the board in its efforts to curb the excessive use of credit for speculative purposes. Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent with only a nominal calling of loans, but bankers expect the rate to work higher within the next day or two. Time money rates held firm at the highest levels in eight years.

STOX—2—

Early selling was directed principally against some of the recently strong pool specialties. Radio (old stock) broke 17 points to 532 and the new dropped nearly 6 to 103½, but rebounded to above 106 by early afternoon.

A drop of 6 points in Wright Aeronautical was attributed, in part, to selling inspired by the loss of 14 lives in a plane equipped with the company's motors. Rossia Insurance, Johns Manville, Electric Auto Lite, Safeway Stores, International Combustion and Weber and Heilbroner all sold down 2 to 3½ points, the last-named touching a new 1929 low at 71½.

Coppers rallied briskly in the early trading with several of the leaders moving into new high ground. Heavy profit-taking, which set in just before midday, was checked by reports that large producers were not accepting any orders for the red metal, and that what little was available was being sold at 22 cents, an increase of a full cent above last week's price.

Railroad equipment shares were in brisk demand on reports of expending business. Baldwin Locomotive, which has been quiet for months, soared 16 points. American Locomotive moved up 4⅛ to a new high at 122 and Lima Locomotive advanced 3 to a new top of 53¾.

FAMOUS CANTATA PLEASES LARGE CONGREGATION.

Maunder's "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," sung by the augmented choir at the First Dutch Church Sunday evening, brought out a goodly congregation of lovers of good music. It was a worshipful congregation, a company of people who came because this cantata expresses so beautifully, when properly sung, the moods of the soul as it devoutly contemplates Passion and Eastertide. The solo parts by Mrs. Johnston and Leonard Stine were sung with feeling and splendid interpretation. A chorus of fifteen voices sang in turn with a volume demanded by the masterpiece, and then the gentleness and softness of the falling dews. The effect was wonderful.

Mrs. Charles Franklin Doty, the contralto soloist of the church, who came to this city from Syracuse three years ago, sang with soul-thrilling effect as offertory Bartlett's, "The Day is Ended." W. Whiting Fredenburgh, organist and choir director, had to contend with an organ somewhat recalcitrant at first, due to the fluctuating weather conditions of the past few days, but by skillful manipulation he soon overcame the trouble, and handled his instruments, great organ and echo organ, with a masterly control. Dr. Boeve, minister of the church, preceding the singing gave a brief discourse explaining the difference between penance and penitence. He announced also that on the afternoon of Good Friday the augmented choir will again sing Stainer's "The Crucifixion" at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. All the uptown churches and their ministers are cooperating in this service of one hour. There will be no address.

Bible in 42 Tongues Needed in Brazil

Rio Janeiro, Brazil.—Three million five hundred copies of the Bible, in 42 languages and dialects, have been distributed in Brazil during the last 50 years by the American, British and foreign Bible societies.

More copies are issued in Portuguese than in any other language, with Italian, Spanish, German, French and Slavic ranking in order.

On account of the recent immigration of Syrio-Lebanon people a large number of Bibles have been issued in Arabic, and with Japanese immigration on the increase there has been a demand for the Scriptures in that tongue.

Society Notes

The Coterie.

Mrs. Coutant was the hostess of the Coterie on Saturday afternoon. The topic for the day was "My Antonia by Willa Siebert Cather." After mentioning the coming Federation card party during the business session, the literary program opened with an interesting and thoughtful paper on "The Victories of Antonia," given by Miss Hael. This was followed by a very entertaining "Portrayal of Nature Scenes in Nebraska," given by Mrs. Brink. The program closed with a reading, "Immigrant Life in Nebraska," given by Miss Huber. The next Coterie meeting will be with Mrs. O'Connor.

Odds and Ends

There will be a regular rehearsal of the Jr. O. U. A. M. band at the rooms, also important business meeting. All members are requested to attend.

There will be a cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Haley, 366 Broadway, this evening at 7:45. Robert Banes will be the leader.

A seedy negro was borrowing $10 for one week, and on counting it discovered only $9, to which he called the loan man's attention. It was explained that $1 had been deducted as interest, and as customary was collected in advance. Blinking his eyes in amazement, he scratched his head and mumbled: "Tse sho' glad Ah didn't need dis money fo' ten weeks."—Forbes Magazine.

Our idea of a real politician is one who can make the fair voters believe she looks young enough to be a flapper, but old enough to have sense enough to know how to vote right.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press).

Bucharest—The boy king is to begin serious work of state May 10. From the throne he will reply to addresses of loyalty. He will not have the crown on, but will wear the national costume.

New York—Thomas Kane, 43, ferry deckhand, ex-sailor and father of three children, believes he has given away more blood than anybody else. His record is 99 transfusions. Sometimes his reward was a high as $250. He eats little meat, but plenty of raw vegetables such as potatoes, carrots and onions.

New York — Now comes the "Thinkiee." A theatre audience submitted questions to be answered by figures in talking movies. The demonstration was a bit disappointing. A character in the film opined that a man named Smith would be the next leader of Tammany, but a violinist fiddled and fiddled with no music at all coming from the screen, let alone what was requested.

Port Arthur, Texas—All the king's horses failed with humpty-dumpty, but four steers pulling on a seine were enough to get out of the Gulf of Mexico a 1,350-pound turtle that had been cut a bit, evidently by a ships propeller. The turtle is about 100 years old.

New York.—Poor food, in the opinion of an investigator, is responsible for much low intelligence. Dr. John Munroe of Long Island University has examined 5,000 children in 16 years. As one test he fed mongos twice a day to ten children and found that the intelligence of nine increased.

Rochester, N. Y.—There was an insistent tapping, as of someone gently rapping, at Mrs. George Banker's window pane. It was not a black raven, but a white carrier pigeon, friendly and an utter stranger.

New York—The voice of Corrine Griffith of the talkies has been insured for $1,000,000.

Washington—How high prices for rugs caused a decline in marriage is described in a bulletin of the National Geographic Society. Buyers in Turkestan bid so high that it became more profitable for a father to keep his girls at home at work than to give them in marriage. Prohibitive compensation was demanded from suitors.

COMING ACTIVITIES AT COMFORTER CHURCH.

The monthly business meeting of the Men's Club of the Church of the Comforter will be held in the church hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Following the business session there will be a program consisting of several musical numbers and a very interesting address by the Rev. John Neander, pastor of the Reformed Church of Saugerties. After the program, refreshments will be served. Every man in the church is invited whether a member or not.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the church hall, Circle No. 1 of the Ladies' Aid Society will present a very interesting play entitled "Finnegan's Fortune." It will be given by some of the young people under the directorship of Frank Elmendorf. It is in three acts. After the play ice cream and home made cake will be served. The public is invited to attend.

On Thursday evening at 7:30, the Rev. John J. DeBoer, president of Voorhees College, Vellore, India, will speak. The choir will be present and assist in the music. Not only the members of the congregation but the public are invited to the service. A free will offering will be taken for the benefit of the Women's Missionary Society. After this service the choir will rehearse the cantata which they expect to give Palm Sunday night.

On Friday evening the Choir and Dramatic Club will hold their monthly business meeting and social in the church hall. It is hoped that every member will be present as there are important matters to be discussed.

Next Sunday (Palm Sunday) the Rev. H. H. Black, D. D., pastor of St. James M. E. Church, in the evening the choir of twenty-three voices will give the beautiful cantata, "Olivet to Calvary." This cantata will be repeated Good Friday night.

Objected to Shaving - by Monkey Apprentice

Sir Harry Lauder is fond of telling the following story:

The sailor son of an Arbroath barber had brought home with him a large, hairy, and particularly ugly monkey, which he presented to his father. The barber trained the monkey to assist him in the lathering of his customers' chins, much to their amusement.

One day a stranger dropped into the shop, and had a good look at the monkey sitting in a far corner staring intelligently at a comic paper. By and by the barber was called to the door to answer some query or other, and in his absence the monkey seized the lathering brush and proceeded to work diligently on the customer's face. Afterwards he grabbed a razor and started to strop it with equal diligence, but in a grossly careless manner. Then he clambered up on the arm of the chair and made as if to begin shaving the alarmed customer.

"No, na, na wee mannie!" said the latter, jumping to his feet and pushing the monkey aside. "I've no objections to ye soapin' me, an' yer stroppin' maybe a' richt, but yer father'll hae to do the shavin'!"

For That Tired Feeling

Backaches and footaches and headaches are responsible for most of the wrinkles and worry squints and tired listless faces among women. Body aches give that hard edge to the voice and make women feel forty-five when they are barely past thirty. Many of the tired aches could be avoided if women would take a little less care of their houses and a little better care of themselves.—Farm and Fireside.

Chandlers Defeat Silk Mills in Extra Period

The Chandlers defeated the Silk Mills, the Industrial League champs, 34 to 31, after playing an extra period of five minutes at the Y. M. C. A. court Saturday night. The game was closely contested all the way. The first quarter ended with the Silk Mills leading and at half time they still held the upper hand. In the third quarter the Chandlers tied the score and went in the lead many times just as they did in the earlier part of the game. It was McLane's foul shot that tied the score at 30 all with but twenty seconds to go. In the exrta period which was played as a result of the deadlock the Chandlers rolled up four points to the Silk Mills one.

The Silk Mills scored first having a deuce to their credit. The Chandlers later followed suit and the tally was tied for the first time. The weavers now took up the leading position by four points. A foul shot which was made by Merritt ended up the Silk Mills scoring for the first quarter. It was after the mill team gathered their seven points that the Chandlers began to score. Niles dropped in a field and Dulin made a foul shot good which brought the Chandlers within two marks of their opponents' lead, 5 to 7, as the quarter ended.

The second session saw some action. Both teams still battled on even terms. Niles was doing the biggest part of the scoring for the Chandlers while Merritt was playing unusual basketball for the Silk Mills. The mill team's men took plenty of long shots. Macholdt tossed several long ones but only one found the hoop for a tally. Blass made two sensational shots from the middle of the floor in this period. So far it was the two Chandler men, Merritt and Blass, who were playing with the Silk Mills that were doing all the damage. Niles was keeping the Chandlers in the race by making his shots good after the ball was worked through the weavers' defense. The score was 15 to 12 when Dulin made his first field goal. The whistle sounded ending the half with the Silk Mills leading, 15 to 14.

Chandlers Take the Lead.

No more than the third stanza of the game got under way than Krum found the hoop for a deuce putting the Chandlers in front, 16 to 15. The "Y" representatives then led until they reached the 22 mark. The Silk Mills team kept close behind and a field made by Gregory from the side of the court tied the score at 22 points. It was after this that Fox did his scoring by making a field and Dulin caged one from the fifteen foot penalty line, while the Silk Mills team added another point to their score. The Chandlers was in the front position for the first time at the end of a period, 25 to 23.

It wasn't long after the last quarter began that the Silk Mills team again took the lead. Blass made a field and a foul and Merritt sunk a two pointer which gave them the edge, 28 to 25. McLane now came through at the right time with his lone field. By his score the battle was close once more, 28 to 27. However, Merritt made a field goal and Niles did likewise. The mill team was still holding the lead by a point, 30 to 29. The time was getting short there was but twenty seconds to go when McLane was fouled. He made his shot which tied things up at 30 points. The game ended at this stage.

Extra Period Played.

Both teams fought for all that was in them. There wasn't much time to spend in passing the ball around so many long shots were taken. The Chandlers' four points however were not made by long ones. Niles scored both of the field goals for the "Y" team and it was at the end of the extra period that Blass made a foul for the weavers. The game ended with the score, Chandlers, 34; Silk Mills, 31.

A dance will be held at St. Mary's Hall, Marlborough, by the Marlborough Hose Company tonight. There will be modern and old-fashion dancing to the tunes of Pardee and Allen.

Blood Transfusion

The first transfusion of blood is supposed to have been made on November 23, 1667, at a meeting of the Royal society in London. For purposes of experiment, the college hired a man for twenty shillings. A silver tube was used to connect the carotid artery of a sheep with a vein in the man's arm and twelve ounces were let in.

Highland Trims Wappingers Falls

Highland Hose Company basketball team strengthened its hold on first place in the Mid-Hudson Valley League by taking the Wappingers Falls team into camp Sunday at Wappingers to the tune of 19-17. Both teams displayed brilliant defense during the game, Wappingers furnishing its share in the second half.

McDermott, Highland's center, who starred by collecting 10 points, got an early start and Highland was out in front, 12-4, at the half-time period. They did not hold this advantage long after the second session started. Wappingers Falls crept up on the firemen, whom they kept out of scoring range, until the score stood 15-all, with five minutes to go.

Then Hasbrouck came through with a foul, McDermott shot a field and Pete Bruck of this city boosted Highland's tally with another one pointer that put the Hose Company in the lead. Wappingers was able to score but one field in this session.

Friday night, March 22, Highland Hose Company will meet Slotes of Poughkeepsie at Smith's Hall, Highland, in the last Mid-Hudson League game of the season.

TROJAN A. C. DEFEATED CLINTON INTERMEDIATES

Playing their third game in three days, the Trojans defeated the Clinton Avenue Intermediates 54-45, Saturday evening at Epworth Hall.

The game was nip and tuck, the lead changing hands many times. The C. A. I. got the jump at the beginning and led 17-10 at the quarter. The Trojans defense tightened and the score was tied at half-time. Thereafter the game was fast and it wasn't until the last few mnutes that the Trojans finally sewed up the game. Taylor, playing a stellar guard game, held Al Roosa to one field and five fouls. Keiffer and Johnson scored heavily for the Trojans with 22 and 14 points respectively. Myers and Boss were the C. A. I. mainstays with 15 and 14 points respectively.

Ruth Is Too Well Done for Griffith's Goslin

Clark Griffith, proprietor of the Washington Senators, declares that he would not trade his Goose Goslin for Babe Ruth, even up.

In effect, Griffith declared that his Goose is far from cooked, whereas the Bambino is rapidly becoming well done.

There is no bargaining going on between Miller Huggins, the mite manager of the New York Yankees, and Griffith at this moment of composition. It is simply a hypothetical trade that Griffith was so flatly turning down. But Griffith's statement, coming from a shrewd judge of athletes on the hoof, should be interesting.

"My Goose," he said, "is only twenty-nine years old. He is a great hitter and an alert outfielder. He has been troubled with an ailing arm, but that has been overcome, Goslin assures me. The Babe is just past the thirty-five year mark. He has led a rather furious existence. He has not taken the best of care of himself.

"I don't want to predict how long the Babe will last as a regular, but it's certainly logical to say that a player of thirty-five years is considered old in the baseball game."

You can't judge a man by the company he invites, but by the company that comes.

Expect Fast Games at Armory

Forecasts of fans, who have followed basketball very closely this season, are that the double feature bill at the armory Tuesday night will be one well worth attending. The program will bring together the Chandlers vs. the Port Ewen Knights of Pythias and the American Legion quintet vs. the Y's Men.

The teams booked for the main attraction, namely the Chandlers and Port Ewen K. of P., have been keen rivals since the opening of the cage season. The Chandlers hold two victories over the Port Eweners, which the Knights hope to deface by decisively trouncing the Chandlers Tuesday night. The latter team is not worrying over any hopes held forth by the Pythians.

In the first game of the evening, the Legion team will take on the Y's Men. The Legionnaires are eager to score a win over the Y's Men, which will cause them to play at top speed. The Y's Men are known as a fast aggregation and promise that they will uphold their reputation against the Legion men.

Tickets for the games can be procured at Murphy's news store on the Strand, the Flower Shop at Broadway and East St. James street, at the Y. M. C. A., and the armory.

COMFORTER WINS OVER ST. JOHN'S, 28 TO 5

The Comforter handed St. John's team a trimming, 28 to 5, in a Senior Sunday School League game at the "Y" court Saturday night. The other game scheduled for that evening was postponed. The Comforters secured the lead in the early part of the game, holding the St. John's team scoreless in the first quarter. In the second session the Comforters continued to score while their opponents managed to collect a single from the foul line, the score being 20 to 1. In the second half Reid and Lacey tallied from scrimmage which summed up the loser's points. "Bill" Merrill for some reason or other was off when it came to sinking long shots. Usually he is St. John's main scorer. The game ended with the Comforters in front, 28 to 5.

Big Leaguer to Explain Game

America's foremost sport, baseball, will be explained to the boys of this city on March 25, probably at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium by Leslie Mann, former outfielder of the National League, who will illustrate his talk with movies of some of the games greatest players, showing just how their do their stuff.

Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby, Lou Gehrig and many others, just as important in playing the game in big time, but not quite as famous, will be seen in action, through the courtesy of the American Legion, which is sponsoring a Legion Junior Baseball League.

Kingston Post plans on putting several teams into the Junior League this year so it is likely that every boy who can will make every effort to attend the lecture. The illustrations will be a big help in putting Mann's talk over in a very clear way.

The machine used in screening the movies is one invented by Mann. With it he is able to make a "still" of the movies and thus stop long enough to explain valuable points in the methods of the players. He has often used the machine to illustrate talk to big league players.

Of course Mann is well known as one of the outstanding men of baseball. He played in the National League for several years with New York, St. Louis and Boston.

Y'S MEN QUINTET BEATEN BY FLEISCHMANN FIVE.

The Y's Men were beaten badly by the Fleischmann team, 70 to 31, at the latter's court Saturday night. The Y's Men played exceptionally good ball the first quarter but in the second period of the game the winners rolled up a 12 point lead, the score being 23 to 11 at the end of the half. In the third quarter of the battle Fleischmanns scored frequently and they collected an overwhelming lead. The local "Y" team scored fast and plenty in the final period but it was impossible to overtake their opponents' margin.

Kingston Will Represent This District At Syracuse

Kingston High School Varsity basketball quintet won the championship of Zone 2 and also the right to represent the Zone in the state championship series to be played at Syracuse the latter part of this week, by virtue of their win over Arlington High School at the White Plains court Saturday night. The honor of competing in the state championships, the first ever to be achieved by a DUSO team of the local school, reflects great credit upon the quintet, which got off to a poor start and later won the DUSO championship and the Zone championship.

In the coming games upstate the local team will meet stiff opposition and they will have to be at their best to win. The winners of the state meet will compete for national honors.

To reach these heights of basketball fame the local team had to defeat Arlington and with this in mind they did a very good job, winning by the score of 39 to 21. When the teams took the court at White Plains Kingston displayed their determination from the start and jumped into the lead early in the game. Beside the usual accurate shooting Kingston's defense was what really counted. The locals scored seventeen baskets from scrimmage while the losers made nine. Many of the shots made by the losers were from long range as they failed repeatedly to pierce Kingston's defense. Kingston on the other hand was too slippery and at all times were the masters of the contest.

Blackwell did the best shooting of the game, caging a total of 18 points, eight from scrimmage and two from the foul line. Brennan was next with 10 points. For Arlington McManus was highest scorer with 10 points.

County Tourney Games Here

The Ulster County Basketball Tournament, which will be held in the Young Men's Christian Association at Kingston, New York, has created quite a lot of enthusiasm among the high school students of the six high schools that are participating in the tournament.

The official entry blanks have been received from Saugerties, Ellenville, Kerhonkson, New Paltz, Marlborough and Highland.

In the official meeding of the principals and coaches, it was agreed that each team that competed would be eligible according to the New York state tournament rulings which require a certain standard in subjects as well as in attendance at the schools.

The schedule, which will be found at the bottom of this article, has been drawn up and sent to all the coaches of the various teams. Each coach also has received an allotment of tickets which are to be sold among the students and their friends. No tickets are being sold in Kingston until returns have been made from the various schools. This is being done in order that all those who purchase tickets outside the city may be assured of a desirable seat from which they can view the games. These tickets are being sold at one price, which admits to one game or all games.

Officials for the tournament are being picked from central board officials and already two men have consented to give generously of their time in this capacity.

Members of the Kingston Hi-Y Club will be on hand to act as hosts to the visiting teams and to assist them in any way possible.

The visiting teams will be entertained at homes in Kingston over Friday night where prompt reservation is made.

This tournament is being promoted by the Town and Country Division of the Young Men's Christian Association, of which Chester R. Hall is field secretary.

Spain Seeks Race Entries.

Signor Ignacio Macaya, representing the National Automobile club of Spain, is in the United States seeking three American race drivers to represent this country in an international road race at Barcelona in October. Targo Without Americans.

Targo-Florio, one of the greatest European racing classics, will be staged this year without an American entry. Scheduled for May 5, the date of the continental race is too close to the Indianapolis classic to permit American drivers time to reach the United States for the American grand prize.

Dirt Tracks Busy.

One of the biggest seasons ever planned for eastern dirt tracks is rapidly taking form. The mile oval at Langhorne, just outside of Philadelphia, has scheduled five events. New Market, N. J., plans races weekly and on holidays. The newly constructed one-half mile autodrome at Babylon, Long Island, also plans running on all holidays and a bi-weekly program as well. In addition to these, 40 or 50 days of racing on state and county dirt tracks during fair weeks in the east will keep the drivers busy.

May Change Flag Signals.

American championship drivers have voiced unanimous approval of proposed changes in race flag signals for communicating information to drivers as they whirl around the tracks. The new code calls for a green flag to start or go; blue flag to pull over, another competitor is trying to pass; red flag, held stationary, caution—watch out for conditions ahead or get your car under control, bad conditions ahead; red flag, waved, slow down still further; black flag to stop next lap for consultation; white flag, you are entering your last lap; checkered flag, you are finished.

90th Birthday of Nicholas Bruck

On Sunday afternoon, March 17, a family reunion was held at the home of Nicholas Bruck at 27 Smith avenue. The event was arranged to give a surprise to Mr. Bruck in honor of his 90th birthday anniversary. The plans were made and worked out to perfection.

When Mr. Bruck returned from his morning church service he found his home occupied by his sons, daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren and Senator Jacob Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Huber as guests of honor. They had transformed his living apartments so that he was bewildered as to his whereabouts. The rooms were decorated with a profuse display of ferns and flowers, streamers and all the things that are required for such an occasion. The apartment formerly used as a grocery store had been renovated and transformed into a huge dining room in which large tables had been placed.

After "Grandpa", as he is always greeted by all his relatives and friends, had been extended congratulations and best wishes all proceeded to the dining hall where an elaborate turkey dinner with all the "fixins" was awaiting the guests. Three tables were required to accommodate the "guests", who in unison proceeded to do justice to the spread.

Each table contained a large birthday cake with the inscription, "To grandpa on his 90th birthday".

It would be hard to describe the emotions that Grandpa Bruck underwent while seated at the table in company with his large family and guests, but one thing is sure, he certainly did enjoy it. To make the occasion more pleasant, the Rev. Father Neumann and his assistant the Rev. Father Huband, from St. Peters parish, called during the afternoon and extended to Mr. Bruck their congratulations.

During the afternoon a group photograph was taken by the photographer from the Pennington studio.

In the course of events a substantial purse and other beautiful presents were presented to "grandpa", by his relatives and friends.

The folks gathered in the dining hall and speeches were in order. First, Father Neumann arose and paid a wonderful tribute to the grand old man. Following this others were called upon and they expressed sentiments that were very appropriate for the occasion.

At seven o'clock a lunch was served after which Mr. Bruck and the old timers grouped together to exchange incidents and stories. It certainly brought joy to his old heart to again discuss old time happenings.

Of the immediate family there were present three sons and three daughters with their families including thirty-two grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

The folks departed after having a delightful day and on leaving expressed to Mr. Bruck their hope that he would live to be a hundred.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Practical Popular Apron Frock.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. To make this model for a medium size will require 3⅞ yards of 36-inch material. To make belt, pockets and vestee of contrasting material, will require ½ yard. The width of the frock at the lower edge is two yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

DIFFERENT DAINTIES

FOR an afternoon tea when you wish to serve something to your friends a little out of the ordinary, try:

Snow Balls.

Take one cupful each of sugar, shortening and grated pasteurized cheese, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, three and one-half cupfuls of flour and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Cream the sugar, shortening and cheese together, add the egg, the lemon juice and flour sifted with the baking powder. Roll into balls the size of a walnut and bake in a slow oven for 15 minutes. Dip into cooked icing, roll in coconut and let dry a few minutes.

Orange Tapioca.

Soak two tablespoonfuls of minute tapioca in just enough cold water to cover, then add two cupfuls of scalded milk, one-eighth teaspoonful of salt and one-half cupful of sugar. Cook in a double boiler until clear. Beat e g yolks slightly, then pour them over the egg mixture and cook until creamy. Peel and slice six navel oranges and remove all white membrane. Place slices in a glass baking dish, pour over the tapioca and cover with a meringue, using the whites of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and one-half teaspoonful of orange extract. Brown lightly and serve cold.

Bread and Raisin Pudding.

Butter bread from which the crusts have been removed to fill a three-pint dish. Arrange butter-side down. Sprinkle with a thin layer of seeded and shredded raisins mixed with the grated rind and juice of a lemon. Cover with four cupfuls of milk to which four eggs slightly beaten have been added, with one cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Bake slowly one and one-half hours, covering the last half hour with buttered paper.

Pecan Macaroons.

Beat three egg whites, add one-half pound of light brown sugar, a little cinnamon and three-fourths of a pound of pecans cut into bits. Drop on brown paper and bake at a very low temperature for nearly two hours.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT
By F. A. WALKER

GETTING ON

HOW are you getting on?

Every day when a ship is at sea the captain, with an astronomical instrument measures accurately the altitude of the sun above the horizon and with a series of charts determines his position on the great waters.

The safety of his ship and the safety of his passengers depends upon his accurate knowledge of where he is, how far and in what direction he has gone since he last computed his position.

How long since you took observations to find out where you were? When did you figure out your bank balance or determine in cold hard figures whether or not you were increasing your efficiency as a workman?

You are sailing a sea just as devoid of marks and mile posts as the watery plain along which a vessel plows.

Your life is not like any other life.

No one else can live it for you nor even tell you accurately how you shall live it.

Wise advice they may and do give you as to the broad principles of success but there will be complications all your own which you must solve without anything to guide you except good judgment and a sense of right.

It used to be that once a year a merchant took account of stock. He thought that once in twelve months was often enough to figure out whether he was making money or running behind.

But as competition became keener, as merchants became keener buyers, closer sellers, the wide awake business man thought it would be wise to find out a little oftener how he was getting on.

Today in the big stores each head of a department, and that means each head of the many small stores that collectively make the big store, is expected to know every day how he stands as regards his stock and his profits and if he is not able to give the "big boss" a comprehensive answer as to "how are you getting on?" he will shortly find himself looking for another place unarmed with any very convincing recommendation.

Some people are like a boy's rocking horse—a fury of motion, but not getting ahead.

Noise doesn't count for much except to attract attention and if there is nothing behind the noise the attention soon dissipates.

Progress is the one thing worth while in the world.

Nothing that God made, and with which man has not interfered, either stands still or goes backward.

The whole universe moves in a forward direction.

It moves consistently and continuously, never by spasms and jerks but always in compliance with the laws of its progress.

There are laws which we may apply to our daily efforts no matter how lowly those efforts may be. We can apply the law of perseverance, of right ambition, of faithfulness.

There is only one brand of real failure in the whole world of endeavor and that is failing to do as well as we know.

If we always do that, if we are always faithful to the best ideals we have we shall be eternally getting on and eternally getting up and that in the last analysis is about the whole of life.
